600,000 MEN IN BATTLE

RUSSIANS CROSS HUN RIVER AND DRIVE JAPS BACK.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Russian army, under the personal leadership of General Kuropatkin, has crossed the Hun River in its southern advance and attacked the Japanese forces moving northward.

A general engagement is in progress, according to official advices from Tokio, and more than 600,000 men are fighting on both sides. The battlefield is between Liao-Yang and Mukden, with the Japanese falling back on the fortified positions from which they recently drove the Russians.

Bloodiest Battle of War Begins.

Everything indicates that the present engagement will be even more bloody and perhaps more prolonged than that of Liao-Yang. Both armies have been reinforced. Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese commander, evidently determined upon a change of tactics, in order to bring about a decisive engagement with the Russians, and it is believed here, as well as in Tokio, that the withdrawal of the Japanese to the southward was a part of his plan.

Kuropatkin was encouraged to take the aggressive, in order that the Japanese might occupy the more secure position of defending fortified points. This has been accomplished, and the two armies are now engaged in a desperate battle, in which artillery is playing a very important part, along an extended front.

General Engagement Began To-day.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that General Kuropatkin has telegraphed the Emperor that the Russian vanguard is in contact with the Japanese, who are within gunshot. His dispatch was earlier than the Tokio dispatch, dated at 4 o'clock this afternoon, which reports the general engagement.

ARTILLERY BATTLE OPENED IT.

An artillery battle began on Sunday, continuing throughout the day, and was resumed yesterday. The advance posts of the Japanese right flank were then judged to be about twenty versts from Mukden. At 2:30 o'clock there was heavy cannonading in the direction of the Russian center.

Concentrate Upon Fortified Positions

According to official reports, Field Marshal Oyama, at the first sign of General Kuropatkin taking the offensive, began drawing in his line and concentrating upon fortified positions north of Liao-Yang.

General Kuropatkin is in the field, personally directing the forward movements of his army, which has strong columns, which are moving on each side of the railroad, whence they will draw their supplies, their flank being protected by the squadrons of Cossacks. The Russians are operating along a front between forty and fifty miles, extending from Kanton pass to Hantingpo on the east and across the Hun River to the left bank of the Liao River on the west. They are taking every precaution against possible Russian attacks, throwing up breastworks as they advance southward. Field Marshal Oyama has not yet shown

MAY NAME CRANE AS SENATOR TO-MORROW

GOVERNOR BATES EXPECTED BY POLITICIANS TO MAKE APPOINTMENTS.

Governor John L. Bates will submit to the Executive Council to-morrow the appointment of the successor of the late George Frisbie Hoar in the United States Senate. Political authorities are confident that ex-Governor W. Murray Crane, of Boston, will be the appointee.

It is assumed that ex-Governor Crane will be the next Senator because of the strength of the sentiment in favor of his candidacy, and not because he would be the personal choice of the Governor.

Long Also Mentioned.

There is not the slightest of ill feeling between the Governor and the ex-Governor, but self-interest and the conservatism of the Legislature would not be likely to

SLEUTHS TRACE $15,000 GEM THIEF TO BOSTON

ROBBED PARLIAMENTARIAN WHILE A GUEST AT A HOUSE PARTY.

Two inspectors of police from Toronto, today reported to Chief Watta, of the Detective Bureau, a $15,000 jewel robbery, which occurred in Toronto on Saturday night, and furnished him with a description of the man who got the jewels, said to be Thomas N. McCauley, a famous Canadian.

The Toronto authorities offer a reward of $500 for the capture of McCauley, who was followed as far as the North Station in Boston by the Toronto police. There all trace of him was lost, but Chief Watta declared today that he believes the thief is still in Boston.

The victim of the robbery is a wealthy member of the Canadian Parliament, known in Toronto, where he came to town to give. There was a house party given at his residence on Saturday night, and McCauley managed to gain entrance to the house and steal the jewels among the guests.

He has a good presence, is an easy, interesting talker, and made himself liked. The loss did not see him and no one else suspected him. The next morning, however, when the jewels were missing, he was recalled and from his description the Toronto police recognized him immediately.

CANABAS INN BURNS.

LOSS PLACED AT $8,000.

YASALBORO, Me., Oct. 11.—Canabas Inn, the finest building in this section of the town, burned. It was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hays of Portland, Maine and is placed at $8,000.

DR. VOGLER NEW SWISS MINISTER.

BERNE, Oct. 11.—Dr. Leo Vogler, a lawyer and secretary to the Swiss Legation at Berlin, has been appointed Minister to the United States.

GEM HAUL BY DAYTIME THIEF

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 11.—A daylight jewelry robbery took place at No. 162 Peace street, when an unknown thief got into the house of Fannie E. Spencer and secured $200 in plunder.

The robbery was in the fashionable Elmwood District, and there is a good deal of excitement over the case.

The ring fans were greatly surprised at the turn of affairs. Up to the fatal fourth it was practically all Hanlon. He scored punches to McGovern's wind hand and often, while the latter fought back in unsuccessful fashion. When Hanlon started to get his kumps, few could hardly believe their eyes, so rapid was the change of fortune.

Local fandom to a man declared that McGovern's "making up" of Hanlon was the best ever enacted in a prize ring. They also declared that it seemed incredulous that another boxer could give

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—Syracuse Tommy Ryan knocked out Bob Douglass in the fourth round of a boxing match in the eight-round contest at the Jai Alai Club. A left swing for the jaw across the ribs, Douglass going clear across the ring on his head after he was hit, and he stayed down for the count.

It was the first time in the history of the way, but every time he hit Douglass in the head Bob went down. Douglass was clearly outclassed, though outwitted by the Syracuse wonder boy. Ryan was prohibitive favorite in what little betting

Britt after signing articles with me to fight in the coming season. He simply crawled out of the match like a slug. He knows that there was a good beat down in store for him if he met me again. I said that I would not do business with him under any circumstances.

The decision he received over me in the previous fight has not hurt him. He has a sure thing proposition and I guess he thinks Gauss right. Henceforth I will give Britt little consideration, but will get back into the game and will meet all comers.

Just as a starter I will go to the McElroy-Hen-Hanlon bout and will be prepared to make a match with the winner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Tom Sharkey is just recovering from a severe cold which threatened the sailor with pneumonia. It was not until Sharkey had been confined to his bed for several days that even his most intimate friends were aware of his illness, every effort being made to keep the matter quiet. The sailor's absence from his favorite haunts, however, soon aroused the curiosity of his friends, and it was finally learned that he was in a pretty bad condition.

WRIGHT WANTS TO GET BUSY

Gans Wins Easily Make Weight.

Hereford says that Gans will have no difficulty in making 135 pounds for Britton. "We will have to look around for training quarters in some place where there is sure to be plenty of warm weather," says the manager. "I will take charge of the camp myself, and see to it that Joe does the right kind of work. He made no effort to reduce for Walcott and he weighed

That crack knuckle-pusher, Kid Wright, according to his hustling manager, Jerry Connolly, is in fine form now and is open to meet any 110-pound man in New England. It doesn't make any difference to Wright who he meets as long as he gets a match on.

"As Wright is a little shy on the money question just now, it makes little difference who the chap is he faces. Any 122-pound boy in Boston or New England may have a taste of his game by just dropping me a line," says Connolly.

JIM NEFFORDS

Wright's sudden resolve is the talk of sporting circles and there are a number of light followers who think that "Young Corbett" has been fairly dealt with. Billy Witt maintains that the only thing that has prevented "Corbett" from engaging in a match is the lack of faith in "Corbett."

"He telegraphed us at Los Angeles that He would not respect the promise not to box anyone until he met Jimmy, and even then we have felt that he would not fight at a good match if he saw the chance. But he has no power over Jimmy and he boxed him and that before long."

As far as can be gauged, Jimmy Britt's philosophy in tackling Gans before "Corbett" is as follows: He instances that he is a very good boxer, that he has defeated Gans at 153 pounds and argues that if he should be defeated he will still be eligible for a go with "Corbett," whereas if he boxed "Corbett" first and suffered a reversal, "matched" with Gans, he would be too weighty to be in the question. In other words, by taking on Gans first he can command two fights, while if he fought "Corbett" first he might have to content

Jefferson is in good condition and ready to jump in at a minute's notice. He has been preparing for this to bring the great fight back to New York but that bout is off for the present.

GRADY'S HOMER DID IT.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—Mike Grady, catcher, was the hero of the game of the season series for the Cardinals over the Browns, for the championship of this city. Grady hit a home run in the eighth inning, a man on base at the time, making the score 4-0 in favor of the great St. Louis Cardinals. Each side made an error, but

DEFINITION OF A CHRISTIAN

The artist, sculptor and musician of the great masters of olden times and modern times have all carried out their faithful work to express the very lofty ideals as they did. So even with real Christian. He not only believed in Christ but he lived in Christ. He was the character and teachings of the Master.

As the meaning of "Christian" is traced back to its original source, we find the disciples of Christ in the world. They were called "Christians" whether or not they

Though the Japanese have practiced sea power, they are buying ships and When Japan won the war from China she was robbed of the fruits of her victory. In these efforts for greater sea power there is a sinister note.

The men who rule Japan either do not propose to be dictated to, if victory does come against the Russian, or they apprehend that the war may yet involve other powers, and they are preparing to meet any condition with a sea armament that will be equal to that of any possible adversary or coalition.
